Rolando Guy

Argentine-Italian Lyric Tenor based in Berlin

BIOGRAPHY

Argentine-Italian lyric tenor Rolando Guy was born in Buenos Aires, where he studied at the National Conservatory and continued his musical development through private studies in voice, vocal technique and music theory with distinguished teachers in Argentina, including Luis Bragato, Darío Schmunck and Garbis Adiamanian. He further developed his operatic repertoire with Dante Ranieri, Susana Cardonnet, Rozita Zozoulia and Marcelo Ayub. Earlier in his artistic development, he also received coaching from Jack Li Vigni in New York and from tenor Francesco Anile in Rome. In 2017, he participated in the Javier Camarena masterclass in Buenos Aires. Based in Berlin since 2019, he began his vocal work in Germany with Maestro Reiner Goldberg and later continued his development with Uwe Griem. He currently studies with Maestro Stephan von Cron Catalano, who is his principal artistic guide. His recent engagements include the role of Zweiter Fremder in Der Vetter aus Dingsda at Kammeroper Frankfurt in July 2025 under the musical direction of Stanislav Rosenberg, and Tamino in a children's production of Die Zauberflöte with Opernwerkstatt am Rhein in 2023. In Buenos Aires, he has appeared in roles including Rodolfo, Nemorino, Ferrando, Tamino, Basilio, Gastone and Borsa. Alongside his stage work, Rolando Guy has developed an active concert profile in Berlin, Copenhagen and Strasbourg. He has performed with the ensemble Die Goldvögel, appeared as soloist with the Diplomatic Choir of Berlin at the Berliner Dom, the German Federal Foreign Office and Notre-Dame in Strasbourg, and given Lied recitals featuring Schubert, Strauss, Rachmaninov and Liszt, often in collaboration with pianist Marcelo Ayub.
