"Music is the universal language of the soul."

Argentinian-Italian tenor Rolando Guy was born in Buenos Aires, where he studied at the National Conservatory. He worked privately with Luis Bragato, Ricardo Ortale, Garbis Adiamanian, Gustavo López Manzitti, Darío Schmunck and Víctor Torres — all singers and vocal coaches at the Teatro Colón. He developed his opera repertoire with Dante Ranieri, Susana Cardonnet, Rozita Zozoulia (Russia) and Marcelo Ayub.

Since 2019 he has been based in Berlin, where he first studied with Maestro Reiner Goldberg and Uwe Griem. He currently works on his technique and repertoire with Maestro Stephan von Cron Catalano, Austrian conductor and violinist.
